MOSCOW TO SEND TROOPS AGAINST JAPS, BERLIN HEARS

Will Aid F. E. R. In Halting Tokio's Ambitions

SOVIETS ACTIVE

Seek Economic Advantages In S. E. Europe

(Reuter's Service)

Berlin, May 25.—Advices from Moscow state that the Soviet Government is endeavoring to gain economic advantages in Afghanistan, Persia, Bokhara and Khiva. A Persian mission is now at Moscow negotiating a trade agreement, and the customs tariff between the Asiatic border states and Russia has been abolished. It is said that the Soviet thus hopes not only to import foodstuffs but also to raise prices in the countries concerned, thus making the people in the border states dissatisfied and more amenable to communist propaganda.

It is reported that the Far Eastern Republic is asking for help to meet Japanese military activity and that the Soviet has decided to send troops and war material to its aid immediately.

LLOYD GEORGE TELLS COMMONS ABOUT PARLEY

Premier Sees Russia As Formidable Ally Of Germans

(Reuter's Service)

London, May 25.—In the House of Commons today Mr. Lloyd George, rising amidst Ministerial cheers, said that he did not propose to speak on German reparations and Anglo-French relations, which would be debated next week, but solely on the Genoa Conference.

He was very hopeful that the report of the various commissions would result in the improvement of the difficulties impeding the recovery of Europe.

Referring to the war atmosphere overhanging Genoa, the Prime Minister described the Russo-German Treaty as a flash of light revealing the dangers of ignoring the Russian problem. It was possible further to disarm Germany but it was impossible to prevent her re-arming and Russia was a very distressed but a very formidable nation.

Mr. Lloyd George impressively said he hoped that his warning today would not be quoted a few years hence.

The Prime Minister emphasised that the British Empire Delegation had been consulted at every stage and unanimously supported the British delegates in their contention that in the interests of world peace some arrangement with Russia was necessary whatever was thought about the Soviet.

RUSSIAN PROBLEM

Mr. Lloyd George then entered upon a long examination of the difficulties of arrangement with Russia, difficulties not of practice but of principle. He said that theorists had intervened at Genoa whenever business had to be discussed, but he was very hopeful that something would be accomplished at the Hague where the experts would view the matter from a different angle.

They had also had to consider at Genoa the danger of conflict in Europe.

The reports they had received of the dispositions and increase of Russian troops were very alarming, hence the truce which, he hoped, would end in a permanent peace pact after the Hague Conference, justifying the pride of the British Empire delegates in their leading part in the fighting for high ideals.

If the Genoa Conference failed the condition of Europe would be tragic.

Several speakers in the ensuing debate dwelt on the desirability of the revision of the reparations question and the danger of a

Ex-Banque Head Asked To Explain His Exchange Deals

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, May 26.—As a result of the judicial inquiry into the affairs of the Banque Industrielle de Chine, M. Pernotte, former Director of the Bank, will appear in the Police Court in connection with his deals in taels. The Board of Directors granted M. Pernotte a bonus of 200,000 francs payable by the Peking Agency. M. Pernotte directed that this should be credited to him in taels reckoned at the legal rate of exchange. Similarly, in accordance with his contract with the Bank, he caused his salary to be reckoned in the same currency. This accorded with the practice of the French Government in paying its officials in the Far East. The taels quotation having risen, M. Pernotte made a handsome profit but the members of the judicial investigation committee are of the opinion that this was an abuse of confidence.

Paris, May 25.—The Examining Magistrate in the Judicial inquiry into the affairs of the Banque Industrielle de China has decided in favor of proceeding against the French directors for declaration of fictitious dividends in 1919.

It has also been decided to ask for the anullment of Parliamentary immunity in the cases of Senators Andre Berthelot and Perchot, and Deputy Lamaziere.

KAO EN-HUNG, WU'S NOMINEE, ASSUMES RAIL JOB AT PEKING

Says He Will Be "Servant Of The People"

PLANS REFORMS

Chang Trying To Get Control Of Railroad

BY JOSEF W. HALL
Staff Correspondent the China Press

Peking, May 25.—Kao En-hung, who arrived in Peking from Paotingfu last night, assumed the portfolio of Minister of Communications today.

The new minister says he regards himself as a servant of the country, and not as "an old style dignitary." He speaks excellent English and is in all respects a new type of Shanghai business man.

The new rail chief was a boyhood friend and schoolmate of General Wu Pei-fu, and will act as Paotingfu's representative in the new Peking government. He will take an active part in putting through the reform measures decided upon at Wu's headquarters. His instructions are to ruthlessly eradicate the Chiaotung clique which heretofore has had a stranglehold on China's communications system.

(Reuter Pacific Service)

Peking, May 26.—The alarm in the region of Chinwangtao and Peitaiho has subsided. The Kailan mines have resumed the transport of coal by rail. The Curlew has arrived at Chinwangtao.

The railway from Tientsin to Mukden is clear as far as Liushowying, where 500 Feng t'en cavalry are stationed by General Chang Tso-lin with the object of interrupting traffic.

Meanwhile, General Chang is endeavoring to secure the approval of the Central Government to his taking over of the railway beyond Shanhaikuan. The Fengtien troops believe that this has been partly arranged, but Government circles ridicule such optimism.

Peking, May 26.—Mr. Kao En-hung arrived from Paotingfu today and was welcomed by the President.

Mr. Tung Kang has assumed office and today despatched a circular telegram to Generals Tsao Kun and Wu Pei-fu and the provincial and military authorities pointing out the acuteness of the financial situation. He remarks that the Government formerly relied on the provinces for revenue. The National Treasury is now empty and no Customs funds are available. The salt surplus has also been used owing to the fall in the price of silver and to meet obligations on the Customs. The expenditure exceeds the revenue received by the Government, while the former revenues from the provinces have been suspended and the consequent loans have led to corruption.

Mr. Tung says that he is determined to publish the accounts and to suppress unnecessary expenditure. He believes that retrenchment will result in a surplus if the provinces resume their remittances due to Peking and he therefore urges them to undertake this responsibility.

The Finance Minister adds that since there are no funds, appeals from militarists are futile, while the provinces should exercise their sense of proportion so as to be just between the provinces and the Central Government. He trusts that the provincial authorities will carefully consider the question of remittances which they will be able to make to Peking after this.

Chinese Honorary Society, Phi Tau Phi, Established In Leading Universities

New Movement, Similar To Phi Beta Kappa Of America, Is Instituted To Organise Men Graduating With High Scholastic Records In China

As a result of a series of informal conferences among educational leaders in China and the holding in Shanghai this month of the first national convention of the representatives of ten leading universities in the country, the Phi Tau Phi Scholastic Honor Society of China has been launched.

The purpose of the society as provided in the constitution adopted at the convention is "to encourage high scholarship and stimulate research, to afford reward for high scholastic accomplishment, to form bonds of intellectual fellowship among its members and to create ties of mutual interest among the various institutions of higher learning in China."

The officers elected at the convention were: President, Dr. P. W. Kuo, National Southeastern University; Chinese Vice-President, Professor F. I. Li, Tangshan Engineering College; Foreign Vice-President, Dr. Leighton Stuart, Peking University; Secretary-Treasurer, Dr. W. S. New, St. John's University; Ass't Secretary-Treasurer, Prof. T. C. Chang, Nanyang College and additional members of the National Executive Council, Dr. A. J. Bowen, University of Nanking; Dr. Chang Po-lin, Nankai College and Dr. F. L. H. Pott, St. John's University.

The society is to be made up of chapters established at the various colleges and universities in China as authorised by the society. Government, mission, and private endowed institutions may be authorised to establish chapters also.

Membership may be granted to members of graduating classes on the basis of scholastic attainment and promise, graduates who have attained eminence in their work, returned students who have received Phi Beta Kappa or Sigma XI honors in an American University (or equivalent honors in other foreign countries), and honorary membership to men of eminence in literature, science, art and philosophy. Members of the graduating classes are elected by the local chapters concerned. Returned students and honorary members are elected by the National Executive Council, from nominations by local chapters and subject to the approval of local chapters. Two negative votes in the council or one negative chapter vote debar any nominee.

There are also charter members, those who were members prior to June 1, 1921.

The final control of the organisation is vested in a National Executive Council consisting of eight members, elected by the authorised voting delegates of the local chapters.

A large number of the charter members of the new society are members of the Phi Beta Kappa and Sigma Xi Societies, which since their establishment in 1776 and 1892 respectively, have exercised profound influence on American education and among whose members are many of America's leaders in all lines of activity.

Some of the prominent graduates of leading universities in China have been elected to membership. Those together with the university presidents and some choice members of the faculty constitute the charter membership.

It is proposed to hold conventions, publish papers, raise scholarship standards and work for greater efficiency in educational institutions in China. The organisation is non-secret, non-political, non-secretarian and non-partisan, being purely an educational society.

Chapters have already been established in St. John's University, the South-eastern University, the Communications University, Peking University, Pei Yang University, Tangshan Government Engineering College, Soochow University, Boone University, West China Union University at Chengtu, Shansi University, Canton Christian College, Nanking University, Nankai College and the Peking National University.

$14,000 RAISED IN CITY TOWARD SHANTUNG FUND

First Week Of Campaign Satisfies Managers

The sum of approximately $14,000 was subscribed, mostly by people of the poorer class, during the first week of the savings campaign for redemption of the Shantung Railway, according to announcement made by the Chinese banks yesterday.

The sum, $13,696.76 in round figures, was deposited in thirty-eight local banks by 2,233 depositors, and the Committee on Redemption of the railway expressed much gratification over the result of the first week's banking. The second week, they confidently expect, will show a much heavier total of deposits.

There are forty-eight banks in Shanghai which are authorised to receive the savings accounts, but only thirty-eight of the number turned in reports for the week ended May 20. The banks, in making their return, point out that the sum, while not large, represents the savings of people in ordinary walks of life and augurs well for the redemption scheme. It is believed that the sum for the initial week will be materially increased when the amounts received by the other ten institutions are added to the sum already made public.

Another encouraging indication of the popularity of the scheme is the increased demand experienced during the present week for the specially printed savings pass books which are issued through the banks to all wishing to devote their investment to the railway purchasing cause.

The Shanghai Commercial and Savings Bank stood highest as regards the amount of deposits for the first week of the campaign, having received $1,930.76 in redemption accounts. The Shanghai Industrial Banking Corporation was a close second, with a much smaller number of depositors, and the Bank of China stood third. These two banks recorded $1,873 and $1,717 respectively. The Bank of China shows the greatest number of depositors—460.

Following is the list of banks reporting for the first week of the drive, with the number of depositors and the amounts received:

Banks	Depositors	Amount

FRENCH COURT ORDERS CRANE TO PRISON FOR TWENTY YEARS

Convicted Of Agitating Among Syrians

FORMERLY HERE

Washington, Amazed By News—Action Problematical

(China Press Service)

Chicago, May 25.—Charles R. Crane, former American Minister to China, has been sentenced to twenty years imprisonment by the French Military Court at Damascus, according to a copyrighted despatch received by the Chicago Daily News from its correspondent at Cairo, Egypt, today.

Mr. Crane was charged with inciting the recent disturbances in the French mandated territory in Syria and found guilty. The Court pronounced the sentence after a hearing at which Mr. Crane was not present. It is reported that the United States Government has been notified of the trial and verdict.

Mr. Crane recently visited Syria and at that time it was reported that the natives petitioned him for American aid to gain their independence.

Paris, May 25.—Mr. Charles R. Crane, who is now in Paris, refused to talk when informed of his conviction by a French court at Damascus on the charge of inciting the natives of Syria to violence. He has not been placed under arrest and announced his intention of going to London.

Washington, May 25.—News from Damascus that Charles R. Crane had been sentenced to twenty years imprisonment in Damascus struck Washington like a thunderbolt. No government officials would speak for publication, but it is known that the matter is receiving diplomatic consideration.

The State Department, replying to an inquiry from the French Government concerning Mr. Crane's activities in Syria, recently said that Mr. Crane was acting entirely on his own initiative as an individual, and had no government commission.

Mr. Charles Richard Crane, former Minister to China, is very well known in Shanghai and throughout the foreign communities in China. In 1909 he was appointed Minister to Peking by President Taft, but en route to his post made a speech at San Francisco that was unfavorably received by the administration, and was recalled before he could sail.

He later was appointed by President Wilson, succeeding Mr. Paul Reinsch, and left Peking when the present Minister, Jacob Gould Schurman was appointed.

Mr. Crane is a member of one of Chicago's wealthiest families and before entering public life served as the president of The Crane Company.

During the 1912 campaign he was vice-chairman of the finance committee of the Democratic party, and when Wilson was elected was offered, but refused, the post as Ambassador to Russia. He later accepted the ministership to China.

He was treasurer of the American Committee for Armenian and Syrian Relief, devoting considerable time to the raising of relief funds, and then became a member of the President's Special Diplomatic Commission to Russia in 1917.

His home is in Woods Hole, Mass., and he has offices in New York.

PEKING UNION MEDICOS GO TO HELP WOUNDED

(Chung Mei Service)

Peking, May 23.—The Peking Union Medical College has sent to Kaifengfu a surgical team with nurses, a motor truck ambulance, and a complete X-ray unit to deal with three thousand seriously wounded men, the casualties of the fight necessary to eject Chao Chieh and Chao Ti from Honan.

On Wednesday, May 17, Dr. Houghton received the following telegram from Bishop William C. White of the Canadian Church Mission, stationed in Kaifengfu:

"With approval of General Feng, local doctors and Red Cross organising to deal with three thousand seriously wounded. Urgently require help of surgical units with complete equipment, including sanitary squad. Immediately require X-ray outfit and motor ambulance. Can you help us by sending these, and what are possibilities of surgical help?"

The P. U. M. C. replied that they would send one surgical team with nurses, a motor truck ambulance, and complete X-ray unit. In view of their inability to furnish a sanitary squad, they suggested referring that request to Dr. Chuan Shao-ch'ing, Surgeon General.

By dint of energetic negotiations with the Bureau of Communications and with representatives of General Feng Yu-hsiang, accommodations were secured on a train leaving Peking at 11 on Wednesday night. A flat car carried the Ford truck, and a box car contained the X-ray outfit, 16 boxes of medicines, surgical instruments and dressings, enamelware, a stove, an operating table and rolls of bedding for the members of the party. The men of the party had the use of a third-class coach, and compartments in the first-class coach were secured for the nurses. Members of the Language School group gave valuable assistance during the day in making up dressings to be taken with the unit.

The party was in charge of Mr. L. C. Goodrich as administrative officer and consisted of:

From the Language School: Miss Richard, Miss Gould, Miss Sprunger and Miss Goertz, nurses and Miss Naesbitt, anaesthetist.

From the American Board Mission: Dr. James H. Ingram.

From the Peking Union Medical College; X-ray staff—Dr. P. C. Hodges and Mr. H. S. Wang.

Surgical team—Dr. George Y. Chan, Dr. Loh Ven-tsao, Dr. Yang Ta-chun, and Dr. Ma Wen-chow.

Nurses—Miss Dorothy Jacobus, Miss Pei Hsin-lan, Sun Chin-ch'eng, and Mr. Kuo Jung-hsun.

A chauffeur, a mechanic and an assistant act as orderly and barber, were also sent.

Mr. L. H. D. Buxton of Oxford University also accompanied the party. It is expected that the Red Cross organisation will assist in this relief work to the extent of meeting such incidental expenses of travel, maintenance and supplies as are not met by missionary bodies or local and provincial authorities.

Chinese Press Telegrams On The Situation

Chang Tso-lin has established his headquarters in one of the railway cars outside Shanhaikwan while the remnants of his troops are stationed along the bank of the Tang river.

The Chihli party has decided to carry out the following measures in connection with the withdrawal of Chang Tso-lin:

(1) Further attacks will not be made against the Fengtien troops as soon as they withdraw to the other side of the Wall

(2) The Chihli troops will be stationed at Shanhaikwan in order to clear the place of the remaining stragglers of Fengtien troops

(3) Chang Tso-lin is to hand over his seals to the new Tuchun of Fengtien

(4) In case of defiance of these conditions, the Chihli troops will cross the Wall to subdue Chang by force.

The Fengtien soldiers behaved very orderly when retreating from Luanchow.

In a telegram to the Government, General Feng Yu-hsiang reports that out of the total of 80 regiments of Honan soldiers 40 percent have been disarmed, 40 percent have been routed and the remaining 20 percent who are taking shelter in the villages will be sent away.

Tung Kang, the new Minister of Finance proposes to meet the Government financial difficulties at the Dragon Boat Festival by issuing promissory notes for the total amount of $4,000,000. He expects to receive $2,000,000 as Salt Surplus and is trying to bet a portion of the funds available as Customs Surplus. Tung Kang will publish a statement of receipts and expenditures, he said.

A mandate appointing Tung Kang as Minister of Finance and Kao En-hung as Minister of Communications was promulgated on 24th inst.

A message was sent by Tsao Kun and Wu Pei-fu through Ho Ku-fu to President Hsu Shih-chang, to the effect that in case Wang Shih-chen should decline to reorganise a new cabinet, Chin Yun-peng, the former Premier, would be asked to do so.

At the conference held in Paoting the following resolutions were passed:—(1) reconvocation of the Old Parliament; (2) nomination of Li Yuan-hung as President and Tsao Kun as Vice-President; (3) appointment of four super-Tuchuns:—Wu Pei-fu as High Inspecting Commissioner of Chihli, Shantung and Honan; Feng Yu-hsiang as Assistant High Inspecting Commissioner of these provinces; Chen Chiung-ming as High Inspecting Commissioner of Kwangtung and Kwangsi, and Wang Huai-ching as High Inspecting Commissioner for Jehol, Chahar and Suiyen.

Lloyd George Tells Commons About Parley

breach in the Anglo-French Entente.

Mr. Clynes said that the Labor Party was unable to approve of general repudiation of debt particularly in relation to Russia.

Mr. Lloyd George, winding up the debate, emphasised the desire of the Government to work amicably with France for the peace of Europe, but declared that it was impossible to settle the reparations question until French opinion was favorable.

"SILLY FORGERIES"

Mr. Lloyd George, referring to the alleged secret clauses of the Russo-German agreement which were published in some newspapers, said that he was not going to deal with silly forgeries of military conventions which would only take in the gullible. Such an attention was unnecessary.

Both Mr. Clynes and Mr. George Barnes paid a tribute to the Prime Minister's efforts at Genoa. They declared that his persistence saved the Conference from shipwreck. Mr. Barnes thought that the most sinister fact in Europe was Russia's million and a half armed men.

Mr. Lloyd George in the course of reply to Lord Robert Cecil defended the private conversations between the statesmen at Genoa to which the latter took exception. He declared that Lord Robert Cecil had quite justifiably held private conversations with President Wilson about the League of Nations and so had General Smuts, and quoted similar private conversations at Washington between Mr. Hughes and Earl Balfour.

The Prime Minister declared that the Japanese delegates agreed that serious disagreement with France would be one of the most disastrous things for the peace of Europe. He pointed out, however, the difficulty of reconciling the British views with regard to Russia and Germany with the French views.

SOVIET LOANS

Mr. Lloyd George said that the large Russian ideas about securing loans and credits at Genoa had been revealed to Sir L. Worthington Evans, who stated that the Soviet delegates had submitted a plan for loans, amounting to £340,000,000, in annual instalments over a period of three years. Sir L. Worthington Evans told them that no Government in the world had power over such an amount.

An amendment by Mr. Rupert Gwynne, one of the most vehement denouncers of the Government in the Genoa debate, to reduce the vote on which Mr. Lloyd George made his statement was rejected by 235 votes to 38.

London, May 25.—At question time in the House of Commons today Mr. Austen Chamberlain pointed out that the Genoa non-aggression pact was founded on the observance of the status quo. The present situation in Siberia therefore, would not be affected. He did not doubt, however, that the Japanese troops would be withdrawn as soon as possible. He declared that the British Government had no information regarding an ultimatum presented to the delegates of the Far Eastern Republic at the Dairen Conference.

Replying to Mr. L'Estrange Malone, Mr. Chamberlain said that he had not considered it his business to inquire into the accuracy of the reported further advance of Japanese troops in Siberia. (cheers).

Cotton Mill Strike Shows Indications Of Drawing To End

Company Makes Some Concessions But Asks Same Of Workers

Negotiations toward the settlement of the Nikka Cotton Mills strike, involving 3,000 workers in Pootung, appeared nearer to the solution yesterday when after a meeting it was stated that the employers were willing to make certain concessions if the employes would also show a spirit of compromise.

The mill proprietors indicated a willingness to grant the demands of the women workers in the coarse cotton department for a piece work scale if the latter would withdraw demands for the dismissal of certain Japanese foremen in the weaving department. An agreement is also said to have been reached that half-time pay would be allowed for the time of the strike. The principal demand of the workmen, however, the recognition of the Weavers' Union, is still unsettled.

The District Police Inspector is acting as unofficial arbitrator and it is hoped that his efforts will result in a settlement within the next few days.

FOR REMOVING SUPERFLUOUS HAIR.

No woman who has any sense of beauty will deny that superfluous hair is one of the greatest drawbacks to good looks.

Realising this, women of all times have put themselves to any expense, and have endured considerable pain and discomfort in order to rid themselves of this great disfigurement.

Nowadays electrolysis is a prevalent "cure" for this evil, but in reality this process involves a great deal of unnecessary expense, waste of time and pain.

The simplest quickest, and most effective treatment can easily be carried out by any sufferer, in the privacy of her home. This is the recipe:

Procure about 1 oz. powdered pheminol from your chemist; mix a sufficient quantity with a few drops of water into a stiff paste. Apply this carefuly and thoroughly to the hair you wish to remove, and allow the paste to dry. In a few minutes it can be gently scraped away. The skin is left absolutely free from hair, and should then be carefully washed in warm water, and if desired, lightly dusted with a little talc powder. (Advt.)

"On To Tokio!" Slogan Of Wu Pei-fu; Hopes To Drive Japs Out Of China

BY JOSEF W. HALL
Staff Correspondent the China Press

Paotingfu, May 23.—We were sitting in General Wu Pei-fu's car at Langfang station. The Little General, in the playfully bluff manner which his officers love was answering the questions and suggestions of a group which had come on the car to interview him.

"I have an idea," said a Major Battalion Commander, "which I wish to suggest."

"Undoubtedly," answered Wu. "If Battalion Commanders didn't have so many ideas, Generals would stand more chance of getting a good night's sleep—and what may yours be?"

"I have an idea," said the Major with a pleased but very reserved smile, "that our regiment could go across country through Jehol and take over Fengtien before Chang Tso-lin gets back."

"You stay here and drill your troops," ordered the Generalissimo, "and when we go through Jehol we won't stop until we get to Tokio—that is my hope."

Every person who attains power such as is now Wu Pei-fu's, must have some overwhelming ambition to spur him on. Wu's ambition, as his friends long ago knew and his enemies now admit, is not for personal prestige, wealth or authority. The driving desire of Wu's mind, the darling ambition of his heart—let it be said softly—is to drive out of his own country with military force, built out of the spurned human material which that country affords, the haughty neighbor aggressor. This constantly lies at the bottom of his mind—it crops up intermittently in his conversation. Along with the man's general restraint and kindliness of spirit it provides the reason for his leniency in dealing with his defeated enemies of his own nationality. He will forgive and cooperate with anyone whom he has reason to believe will contribute towards the accomplishment of his great aim. I am promoted to believe that this ambition lies back of even his great desire for political reunification and national prosperity and strength.

ON TO TOKIO

"We will not stop until we get to Tokio," was, of course a self conscious exaggeration. Wu Pei-fu is not the victim of the ancient and illusory ambition of Chinese potentates to subject the Island Kingdom. When Wu said Tokio, he meant Port Arthur. His dream is to whip the Japanese off Chinese territory. His plan is the plan by which he has been so successful thus far; the plan by which he has defeated the Anfus and the Manchurian satrap: that of getting the enemy enforce onto his own territory and then smashing him out.

Wu, in respect to this his greatest ambition, is a phenomenon—the inevitable phenomenon of irridentism—which the aggressor must sooner or later contend with. The incidents which mark the rising career of Wu are successive steps in the elimination of Japanese influence and dominance from China. The ruination of the Anfus who openly acted as henchmen to the Japanese Imperialists, the crushing of Chang Tso-lin's more cleverly disguised but more poorly backed enterprise, may yet be climaxed by a direct challenge of force to the aggressor. If wise statesmanship in Japan does not obviate the now apparent ultimate necessity for such a showdown, it is very probable that Wu Pei-fu will consider himself the instrument ordained of Heaven for this crisis.

NOT MUCH WORRIED

It will readily be seen that since Wu regards the Manchurian problem from this angle, he is not greatly concerned about the immediate danger of Japanese profit through possible disruption in Manchuria following Chang Tso-lin's defeat. An attempt upon their part to take such an advantage would merely be from his viewpoint a further walking into the trap in which some day it will be caught. Wu conceives of Manchuria as a responsibility which the eighteen provinces proper can well forego for the time being. Had Chang Tso-lin remained north of the wall, he could have been free to follow his own whims in Manchuria for some time to come so far as Wu Pei-fu was concerned, as Wu told me one year ago at the time of the Wuhan trouble. Having driven Chang back to his original territory he is willing to let the powers that be in The Three Eastern Provinces settle their own problem of supremacy. The important problem is the reunion of the eighteen provinces proper and the building up of a stable and financially competent administration over them. If this be accomplished Manchuria will take care of itself. Either the Japanese will fight for their hold or they will not. They are least likely to adopt the former attitude if China is strong. If the stabilisation of China proper be not accomplished, effort expended in the meantime in attempts to prevent incessant, petty expansions from Japanese influence, will be wasted. Japan will never withdraw from a weak China and the hope of retrieving Chinese prestige and sovereignty by arms will, if she remains weak, be an idle dream.

The hole in Wu's argument is probably his overlooking of the fact that the more extended become Japan's interests in Manchuria, the more likely is she to risk war for their retention and the more backing will such a conflict have among her people. This aspect, however: Wu passes over with the fatalism of a military man. "If we fight and win, he argues, "we will get everything back, and the more deeply the enemy is interested the more complete will be our victory. If we fight and lose everything will be gone anyhow; and if we never get in a position where we dare fight at all we might as well as give the aliens our territory and resources as far as goes any good which they would be to us."

This in brief is General Wu's Manchurian policy. It is a waiting policy—a policy of a man who is able to remain calm and prepare while his opponent involves himself in many ways. It accounts for Wu Pei-fu's desire to go back to Loyang and continue drilling his Third Division. It is not a laissez-faire policy.

"Do you think these men would stand up against the Japanese," General Wu asked an observer on the Changhsintien front waving his hand in the direction of a company of Chihli attackers, double quicking toward the front.

"Some of them, perhaps. The Eleventh and Third, undoubtedly, if well officered and modernly equipped. They would have to have much superior backing in the way of communications and intelligence than they now have."

"After giving them this taste of fire," concluded Wu, "I will take these boys home and make soldiers of them."

Ain't It The Deuce How People Dodge Their Overdue Chits?

Pity the poor money lender. Great are his trials and devious and discouraging are the ways of his clients.

Tega Singh, Indian, appeared in the Mixed Court yesterday to press charges against four Chinese who, he claims, conspired to thwart the natural processes of collection.

Tega's tale is to this effect:

Some months ago he employed a Chinese shroff to care for his accounts and gather in the overdue ducats. He was disappointed in his servant. The latter, Tega declared, kicked the hand that bit him—or whatever the quotation is. He divulged to Tega's principal debtor, Tai Tsung-kwe, where the promissory notes were kept. This party Tai, in the estimate of Tega Singh, couldn't enjoy a night's sleep unless he had burned down an orphan asylum or liberated a crateful of rats in an old ladies' home after dinner. He was plain mean. In consequence of the information retailed by the shroff, Tai Tsung-kwe came to Tega and invited him to make a trip to Soochow, enlarging on the beauties of the place. Tega declined to make the excursion. Next day Tai burst in with the news that there was a friend of his in the French Concession who had urgent need of monies and would be delighted to borrow from his, Tai's, friend, at interest to be determined by the lender. Tega gathered up his quill and receipt book and started out.

Meanwhile, according to the way Tega had figured it out, Tai had called a meeting of the Tega debtors in a teashop nearby the Tega domicile on East Yuhang Road. As soon as the pair were out of sight this assembly—composed principally of Woo Zai-ts, who owed $55; Tsha Lau-doo, who owed $100; Wong Ji-nien, who owed an uncertain amount; a Shantung man named Fong, who owed $200, and Tsang Siau S-ts amount indebted not stated—started for the Indian's address. With a key provided by the shroff to Tai—who owed $200 and had gone security for a further $500 loan—the clientele opened Tega's premises, located the document box where the promissory notes were kept and looted it thoroughly, burning the contents next day.

There were over $4,000 worth of notes stolen from the box, according to Tega, and he prayed for reparation. The court, after listening to the indictment, remanded the case one week, dismissing one of the defendants who proved an alibi.

SUICIDE VERDICT IS RETURNED AT TYLER INQUEST

A verdict of death from hemorrhage as a result of a pistol wound self-inflicted while of unsound mind was returned yesterday at the conclusion of the inquest in connection with the tragic demise of Mr. George Tyler, locomotive superintendent of the Shanghai-Nanking Railway, who shot himself in his home near the North station last Sunday evening.

Evidence was given in the British Police Court before Coroner G. W. King by Dr. N. H. Bolton, who performed the autopsy; by Detective Inspector Prince and by Mr. R. J. Glendinning, chief traffic inspector of the railway, who was at the Tyler home when the shooting occurred.

Mr. Glendinning stated that he had called at the Tyler home to see about the presence of two railway men at an inquiry which was to be held at Soochow the following day. He and Mr. Tyler strolled about the garden, watched a game of tennis and he then was prevailed upon by Mr. Tyler to delay his departure. They went into the dining room and Mrs. Tyler came in. Witness did not notice when the deceased went out but after about fifteen minutes of conversation Mrs. Tyler expressed curiosity as to her husband's whereabouts and shortly after the daughter, Caroline, entered and said that her father was lying down in the bathroom. Going to see what was the matter witness pushed open the door and smelled powder. He found Mr. Tyler lying in a pool of blood with a revolver beside him.

Mr. Glendinning stated that Mr. Tyler was always quite rational, never had any trouble with the company and had been with the railway nearly 17 years. He had not had a holiday in many years. Mr. King, mentioning some letters left by the deceased, described them as pathetic. Mr. Glendinning in conclusion stated that Mr. Tyler was a quiet, temperate man and had never given any intimation of wishing to take his life.

German Property Tangle In Court

An inverse argument that Shanghai was an "international settlement" rather than a British protectorate won a hearing on a motion in the Mixed Court yesterday before the British Assessor, Mr. Blackburn, for Mr. P. W. Goldring, representing the defunct British firm of Westphal, King and Ramsay against the German firm, the Hamburg-Amerika Line.

The hearing came on a motion of Mr. C. S. Franklin who asked for a stay of execution of judgment delivered in the Mixed Court on May 30, 1919 when the court rendered its decision against the German shipping company. Mr. Franklin argued that payments due the late British firm should be referred to a clearing house through which, according to the Treaty of Versailles, all debts occuring before and during the late War should be passed.

Mr. Goldring opposing the motion insisted that the article in question could not cover operations between a British China company and a German firm whose Far Eastern headquarters were in Shanghai. He argued further that if Mr. Franklin's point of view was taken for granted, Shanghai would appear to be more of a British protectorate than an international settlement, which, he said "was simply absurd."

The Court dismissed Mr. Franklin's application.

AUTO ACCIDENT

Ford Car 3861, owned by Harry Bridges of Lowe, Bingham and Mathews, collided with a tram car yesterday afternoon on the Bubbling Well Road near the International Recreation Club.

FINE EXHIBITION OF FLOWERS SEEN AT ANNUAL SHOW

Colorful Displays By Horticultural Society At Town Hall

The rain of yesterday undoubtedly cut down to a considerable extent the attendance at the Shanghai Horticultural Society's annual Spring flower show at the Town Hall, and the rain, therefore, is to be condemned. For it prevented many people from enjoying a very beautiful and artistically arranged display of the blossoms which deck the gardens of the city at this season.

The exhibits this year, in the mass and individually, formed a picturesquely eloquent tribute to the care and enthusiasm of the Horticultural Society's membership and it is to be regretted that the show could not have been prolonged for the benefit of local lovers of flowers.

There were several special displays which call for commendatory comment at yesterday's show. Among these was a Japanese garden effect at one end of the hall, surrounded by a curiously formed rockerie and a hedge of conifers and dwarf shrubbery with varicolored iris rising from a realistically artificial pond. The Gardening Section of the British Women's Association provided another special exhibit, transforming one of the smaller rooms into an English garden, with sun dial and tiny, goldfish inhabited pool surrounded by fern, larkspur and a hedge of greenery.

For the table display competition nearly a score of entrants registered this year and some delightful effects were seen. Among these are to be mentioned a tabloid nature composition of unusual sort by Mme. Funatsu. With a single floral item were included two tiny sketches of Japanese countryside—one a rushing mountain stream, pouring through a pine covered thicket, the other a rocky seaside scene, with miniature torii and fishing boat. The forestry was composed of tiny stunted shrubbery while the water effects were secured with coarse and fine sand and gravel.

Sweet peas, dahlias, begonias, nastirtium, roses and many blossoms of the "old fashioned" classification were banked about the big drill hall in what the novelist delight to describe as "colorful profusion." There was also bougainvilla and there were calceolaria in many and spangled tints, azalea, orchids, gloxinias, pansies, lilies, datura, anthurium, peppies,—in short all of the blooms currently extant locally, with multitudinous and fleecy relieving embankments of fern and other greens.

The vegetable exhibit, while not large, was well worthy of the attention bestowed upon it. Cabbages, peas, beans, lettuce and potatoes loomed as the stellar entrants, and succulent and seductive was the appearance they presented. The strawberry display was probably the finest ever seen at the annual show, Mrs. Irwine taking first honors for the large variety and Mrs. T. A. Clark securing two prizes for the smaller sort. Mrs. C. A. Skinner and Mr. J. Ambrose and Mr. R. E. Toeg gained the majority of points for exhibits of the other garden produce.

Among those winning prizes in the floral display were Mrs. F. Ayscough, Mr. Koo Kiao-san, Mr. C. R. Slowe, Mr. G. L. Campbell, Mrs. P. H. Nye, Mrs. H. H. Fox, Mr. R. W. Wells, Mrs. Cornfoot, Mrs. G. H. Wright and Major F. G. Payne.

Tea was served during the afternoon under a rose and vine covered pergola at the West end of the hall and the Municipal orchestra gave a program of music during afternoon and evening.

Rotary Club In Annual Celebrations

'Safety First' Is Urged On Autoists For I.R.C. Races

Safety First—"When proceeding to and from Kiangwan Races drive and insist upon being driven at a safe, reasonable and considerate speed, having due regard to the rights and comfort of other users of the road."

This is the appeal put out yesterday by the committee of the International Recreation Club which controls the racing at Kiangwan. There have been so many accidents on the road to and from the Kiangwan races that the committee has finally appealed to the public to be reasonable in the speed, and to consider safety first.

Regulations for venicular traffic on the Kiangwan roads on race days have been announced as follows:

From noon until 4 p.m., Shanghai to Kiangwan, by the new Kiangwan road, and returning, Kiangwan to Shanghai by the old Kiangwan road.

After 4 p.m., Kiangwan to Shanghai by the new Kiangwan road, and in the opposite direction, Shanghai to Kiangwan by the old Kiangwan road.

The traffic on racing days at Kiangwan has become so great that strict regulations are considered necessary for the safety of the public. The new road will be used for the preponderance of traffic, with the old road reserved for the slower returning empty cars.

All drivers and passengers are asked to regard the "Safety First" rule in visiting or returning from the races.

Rowing Club Tank Open Next Monday

The swimming tank at the Shanghai Rowing Club will be open to members on Monday, it was announced yesterday morning by the honorary secretary of the Club, E. T. Nash.

Spring Regatta Looms As Most Promising Meet

The Shanghai Rowing Club Spring Regatta, June 3, 4, and 5, is looming very close now, and everything points to this Spring's event being a very successful function.

The keenness and enthusiasm shown during the training season augurs well for the quality of the rowing this year. The different crews have been on the river daily in the early morning, during the tiffin interval, and in the evening, and there is every prospect that visitors to Henli will see some close and exciting finishes.

Due to exceptional circumstances, the date of the Regatta is somewhat later this year than usual, but advantage has been taken of this by arranging for the event to be held during Whitsun week-end, and those familiar with the delights of Henli will doubtless appreciate the additional day there.

The racing proper, including the international events, will be completed during Saturday and Sunday, and Monday's program will be devoted to events of a popular nature. Such events as swimming tug-of-war and racing on planks, to mention only two, will doubtless afford as much amusement to the spectators as excitement to the contestants, and it is fully expected that the regatta will prove to be a memorable one in every way.

House-boat owners wishing to reserve berths are advised to make early application, as bookings are expected to be exceptionally heavy. (To be addressed to Mr. J. H. Ford, c-o Messrs. The A. P. C.).

The Shanghai Nanking Railway has kindly consented, as in past years, to provide sleeping coaches at Henli siding throughout the regatta, and meals will be obtainable on the coaches. In addition, tea and light refreshments will be obtainable on the lawn daily at popular prices.

The only uncertain factor is the Clerk of the Weather, and rumor has it that even he has been endeavoring the last few days to get ahead of his "average rainfall to date," with a view to keeping three fine days up his sleeve, —June 3, 4 and 5.

BAER SAYS 'BUGS' Baer: FOWLER WAS SLOW POISON

Gave Two Decisions On Every Play And Let 'Em Take Their Pick

BY "BUGS" BAER

Dear Person:

As an umpire Gink Fowler was a fine bozo. He was so blind that he couldn't see the sun on a clear night. After listening to him for five minutes I am convinced that all the noodles aren't in soup.

Yours nimbly,
FRED WURPZ,
Los Angeles.

No, Mr. Wurpz, all the noodles aren't in soup. All the cuckoos aren't in clocks. Neither are all the nuts in Brazil.

Furthermore, Mr. Wurpz, all the goats aren't on Goat Island. When you bawl out that fine specimen of manhood, Gink Fowler, you prove yourself to be correct, but brutal.

Now, that you have started this all-the-whoozus business, let us tell you that one look at your button-sized skull convinces us that all the sapps aren't in trees.

We mean you Mr. Wurpz. Don't try to deny it.

You say that Gink Fowler was a disgrace to his profession. That is wrong. He may have been a disgrace, but he had no profession. We trust, Mr. Wurpz, that you will apologise for the error.

There were four men on base when Gink jerked that famous decision on the startled Boots League. Roughtown was playing Mudcake, Iowa. Their uniforms hadn't arrived yet, so the boys were playing ad lib. It wasn't a regular game, as the bats hadn't arrived either and the teams were using a bass fiddle for a bat.

The pitcher was throwing cream puffs instead of baseballs, as they hadn't arrived either. Naturally, when the cream puff bounced on the base fiddle, something had to give way—and it wasn't the fiddle.

After listening to the radio condenser for some time, Gink pulled in his antenna and took it on the lamm. Passing through various towns, some alien posses tried to board him, but Gink stopped only on signal.

There were seven mail bags hanging on his ears when he finally slowed up to allow his ankles to cool off.

Yes sir, Mr. Wurpz, you opened up a fine nest of hot wasps when you attacked Gink Fowler. Your enclosed picture convinces us that all the mice aren't in traps.

And when you say Gink was a bum, we are not going to make you prove that.

PORTUGUESE PAY HONOR TO VISIT OF NAVAL MEN

Tea Dance At Carlton, Party On Consulate Grounds And Field Sports Included

The first of a series of entertainments in honor of the visit of the Portuguese gunboat Patria, the first warship of that nation to visit Shanghai in the last several years, a tea dance held at the Carlton yesterday afternoon from 5 until 8 o'clock was one of the biggest attended affairs of its kind ever held by the Portuguese community in this City. Three hundred members of the Shanghai Portuguese colony and many guests attended. Consul General Casanova and Consul Dr. Da Silva from Canton were present and gave short addresses of welcome to the naval men.

The program of welcome to the visiting gunboat continues today with an open Garden Party at the residence of Consul General and Madame Casanova at No. 6 Weihaiwei road from 4:30 until 6:30 p.m. The party will be followed by a formal inauguration of the newly consolidated Club Lusitano.

The sporting program which had been scheduled for tomorrow has been postponed because of the rain until Wednesday when a list of nine track and field events will be staged, commencing at 2:30 p.m. Local Portuguese sportsmen will compete with men and officers of the gunboat Patria. The meet will be held at Mr. A. Sing's Garden.

Lightweight Coins To Be Discussed At Big Meeting Today

The problem of the lightweight copper coin, which has been agitating the dealers of Shanghai for the past year and more, will be taken up for discussion this afternoon at a meeting to be held at the Chinese General Chamber of Commerce. Among the organisations which will send representatives to consider means of putting a check on the circulation of the discredited coins will be the Chinese Bankers' Association, the Native Bankers' Guild and a number of similar organisations. It is hoped to arrive at some practical solution of the matter at today's meeting.

"WAY DOWN EAST"

AN AUTHENTIC RELEASE FROM THE UNITED ARTISTS CORPORATION

A tale of love and lovers in a new art form combining drama, painting, poetry and music—the picture that has taken America by storm—thrilling—human—an Eighth Art.

11 Parts — THE GREATEST MOVING PICTURE OF ALL TIME — Parts 11

"I have never seen a picture which in breadth of conception or care in detail which could compare with it. To say "Way Down East" is magnificent conveys little. But it is magnificent. To say it is gorgeous may very likely tell that it has myriads of people, that it has scores of effects. As a matter of fact the cast is comparatively small in numbers. It is extraordinary large in talents.",

DOMINO in "THE CHINA PRESS"

".....those amazing scenes of the storm, the melting of the ice, and Anna, on a block of ice, being carried away by a river in flood and finally rescued by the hero. They are worthy of the appellation of "great art." The large audience was enraptured. It is impossible to apply the usual standards of criticism to this last terrific climax. It seems to be true motion picture art—the drama of pathos and peril. The large cast is perfectly balanced. Most of the work falls on the shoulders of Lilian Gish as Anna. Her performance is excellent throughout."

"GET OUT FIRST, THEN WE'LL TALK," CHITA TO JAPAN

Definite Evacuation Date Insisted Upon By Yanson

(Dalta News Agency)

Chita, May 20.—The Minister of Foreign Affairs of the Far Eastern republic, Mr. Yanson, granted an interview to the Dalta correspondent yesterday. Regarding the rumors circulated in the Japanese press about the coming resumption of negotiations between the Far Eastern Republic and Japan, Mr. Yanson said:

"All this talk belongs to the same category as the late communications of the same Japanese press concerning separate negotiations between the Russian Soviet and Japanese delegations at Genoa. An authoritative denial from Moscow has put an end to these rumors. From our part there has been no proposal for the resumption of negotiations, and there cannot be when taking into consideration that the Dairen conference broke up neither through our fault nor at our initiative. Only one thing remained in the way of our agreement with Japan—the occupation of our country by Japanese troops. Only after the Japanese fix an exact date of the withdrawal of their troops will it be possible to speak seriously about the resumption of negotiations."

"However," proceeded Mr. Yanson, "the latest events in the southern Maritime Province, particularly the landing of a fresh Japanese military division in Vladivostok, indicate that the necessity of evacuation realised by our people and the Japanese people is not felt by the Government of Japan. If so, all rumors about the resumption of negotiations are nothing but a mischievous propaganda. The only way to resuming negotiations lies in the evacuation of our country by the Japanese military force."

Answering the question about the arrival of a German repreeutative, Mr. Yanson said:

"We are informed by our representative in Moscow, Mr. Gillerson, that an official representative of Germany has arrived there and was leaving for China. We are expecting him by the end of May or in the beginning of June. It is difficult to say exactly what aims he has with him, but our negotiations with the official German representative will probably be of an economic character and will have a close relation to our plans of restoring trade and industry of the Far Eastern Republic. In general, we may expect that the conclusion of an agreement between Soviet Russia and Germany will enable us to come into closer relations with the West and to attract German capital and German technique to the exploitation of natural resources of our Republic."

JAPANESE FORGES B. A. T. SEALS FOR CIGARETTE TINS

Chinese Vendors Of False Labels Dismissed By Mixed Court

Wholesale forgery of British-American Tobacco Company cigarette tin seals in Japan was alleged during a case which came up in the Mixed Court yesterday.

Three Chinese appeared as defendants in the case, charged with forgery of seals for Chien Men cigarette tins. One of the men had been arrested when he presented the forged seals for the repayment which the company allows on them. Following his seizure the second defendant was taken into custody and was found in possession of a number of the seals. The third man was arrested by private detectives in the employ of the B. A. T. In all nearly 300 sheets of the forged stamps, and a number of loose seals, were seized. They were valued, roughly, at $3,000.

The defendants declared that they received the seals from a man named Koh, who lived at 12 Tatung Road and who has absconded. One of the defendants stated that he had brought the seals over from Kobe, being given them by the brother of a Japanese concubine of Koh. He said he had gone to Kobe to purchase buttons, being a tailor by trade, and declared that he did not know the character of the goods entrusted to him for delivery to Koh. One of the other defendants said he was paid 60 cents a day by Koh to dispose of the seals. The name of the Japanese who turned out the forgeries was given by the Chinese tailor as Yusaka Ishibara.

The court, after a lengthy hearing, dismissed all of the defendants, requiring the tailor to furnish $200 shop security for future good behavior.

Former M.P.'s Eager For Assembly Call

Peking, May 25.—A certain member of the old parliament is quoted as having made the following statement:

"There are at present some two hundred and seventy members of the old Parliament in Peking, some one hundred and forty in Tientsin and some eighty or ninety in Shanghai. Judging from these figures, it is natural that the members, now in Peking and Tientsin, are desirous of holding a conference in Tientsin and it is also expected that those members in Shanghai will not take any exception to such a plan by dint of the good offices of Messrs. Wu Ching-lien and Chu Pu-cheng.

"It is thus estimated that when the members in Peking, Tientsin, and Shanghai have congregated, there will be some 160 in number, which is sufficient for the legal quorum, thus enabling them to reconvene the Parliament. Furthermore, the members of the old parliament, now staying in the district of Canton, amount to no more than some one hundred and forty in all, a portion of whom will never come North, as they belong to Dr. Sun Yat-sen."

PEKING'S OLD WAIL FOR CASH HAS NEW FRENZY

(Chung Mei Service)

Peking, May 24.—The financial stringency extending throughout every department of the Chinese Government is dominating every other consideration and is now the one great problem facing every new appointment and reorganisation. Money must be raised somehow if the new government is to continue, Tung Kang proposes a tax on tabacco and an immediate reduction of the military forces. Kau Ling-wei, Minister of the Interior submits a memorial to the president explaining the use of public lotteries as a temporary expedient and defending those already held in spite of strong protests against this system from the National Chamber of Commerce. The Ministry of Communications hangs on like grim death to all funds now at its disposal and refuses point blank to comply with a request from the Szechuen Chamber of Commerce that the funds for the construction of the Hankow Szechuen line be transferred for the redemption of the Kiaochow Railway from the Japanese. The Szechuenese can raise this money themselves thinks the Ministry of Communications, where everyone is considering the problem of whether any salaries will be paid this month or not. In Kiangsu, the Chamber of Commerce plans to abolish the Likin stations and to raise through its trade organisations and merchants the $6,800,000 collected annually by direct contribution.

The new Cabinet declined to go in before the Dragon Boat Festival due to the financial obligations recurring before them. Wu Pei-fu under the pressure of financial needs from every side now that he has taken the responsibility of the running of China from "Ex-Marshal" Chang Tso-lin, awakes to the fact that it is now up to him and accordingly pushes in the cabinet at once. As a result the mandates announcing the appointment of Tung Kang as Minister of Finance, and Kao En-hung as Minister of Communications, are expected this afternoon or for tomorrow morning at the latest. It now requires energy and genius to make a success of a cabinet post, for there is no money at hand, and money must be secured. Moreover credit has been fairly well exhausted and most purchases are upon a cash basis. In other words it is a case of a show down.

The plan reported from the Kiangsu Chamber of Commerce relative to the disposal of the likin stations is that all the important merchants on either side of the Yangtsze river in the Province will be called together for the purpose of discussing the means whereby all may share the annual $6,800,000 according to the various different trades engaged in and the amount of business done. This being done a meeting of the various trade organisations is to be called for raising the required amounts among themselves. It is proposed to hand over the money to the Government at specified times during the year and it is also proposed to require the Government in return to abolish all the likin stations throughout the province.

Kao Ling-wei has taken to lotteries to raise the amounts needed for the Ministry of the Interior. He has granted the privileges to various provinces and towns in return for a considerable fee, the money being used to defray the expenses of his Ministry. This has evoked various protests and has brought down the ire of the National Chamber of Commerce who look down upon this form of procedure as immoral and not conducive to clean, civil administration. They have petitioned that these lottery privileges be cancelled. Minister Kau admits that this way to raise money is only temporary and in a memorandum to the President remarks that it was the only way open to them to secure funds. In view of the fact that the privilege has been abused and that many different kinds lotteries have been issued indiscriminately thereby causing many people to ruin themselves in their purchase, Mr. Kau now states that the Ministry is also opposed to their continuation and will endeavor to remedy the evils of the situation.

The Szechuenese wish to devote the funds set aside for their Hankow-Szechuen railroad turned in to the redemption fund for the Shantung railway, but the Ministry of Communications has ruled against it. The funds will probably be diverted from the Hankow-Szechuen railroad soon enough, however, but probably for urgent needs which the Ministry of Communication has for its own solvent existence.

No Bandits In Taichow These Days

(Special Correspondence)

Taichow, Ku, May 23.—The return of Spring, the revival of nature and the end of the war in the North remind your correspondent that indeed time flies as an arrow or as a shuttle in the loom and that it is time—high time—that the current events of the Taichow vicinity be recorded.

It is true that for Taichow these are piping times of peace. One of the old citizens a few days ago discussing the case of Chang Tso-lin and Wu Pei-fu, said "Who is Wu Pei-fu?" and "Who is Chang Tso-lin?" We care nothing about their fighting way up there in the neighborhood of Peking. They can never get to Taichow.

So although many parts of the land were distressed and uneasy over the condition of affairs at the capital, at Taichow peace flowed on like the river. Here more interest is taken in what the spring wheat will yield than what occurs in the political arena.

The floods which covered this whole section have all disappeared and in many parts the rice has been planted and in others the spring wheat. So there is hope that soon another crop of food stuff will somewhat relieve the situation. Times are hard in spite of the fact that no fighting or bandits visit the locality for the old days when a sen of rice sold for eight coppers and a big sao ping or two little ones for one copper are gone, perhaps never to return. There is no doubt about it these are hard times for the poor and likely to get harder as the civilisation and culture of the West come nearer and nearer this exalted city. Already electric lights are here, and daily the steam launches of Chang Chien bring travelers from Shanghai and Tungchow and Nanking and now and then a foreigner comes through and buys up the produce of the county at prices that boost the food prices for days. But the world is moving on and on and Taichow, however unwilling must follow, even though she always remains far in the rear.

Another event in Taichow recently that caused the quickening of the pulse-rate in at least one foreign resident was the appearance of some Boxers on the streets. This foreigner is of a quiet peaceful disposition not given to violence and he was quite shocked to find as the cause of a big gathering of people an old man and a boy who were giving exhibitions of boxing according to the customs of that sect. It was the same thing that caused so much suffering and sorrow in 1900 and the revival of the organisation at this time was unexpected. Investigation showed that there were some twenty or more who had joined the society and had endeavored to obtain immunity from all danger by the rites of the Boxer. In an outlying city there reported to be a Boxer Society with more than a thousand members. For the good name of Taichow let it be said that the local Magistrate promptly posted an order forbidding the people from taking part in Boxer practices and it is also said that he arrested and punished some persons who were active in the matter of getting recruits. This last is hearsay.

The local office of the Assistant District Inspectorate of Salt Revenue is soon to be moved to Tung Tai, a city distant some forty miles from Taichow. Last year one of the Inspectors passed this way and in his report suggested to the Peking Office that this office would be more efficient at Tung Tai. If it was not for efficiency it was for another reason satisfactory to the Peking Office. At any rate the office force is being moved now and another claim that Taichow had to greatness will be removed. Considerable revenue will be diverted from the city by this change and it is a regret to all to see the Office go.

The small foreign community will suffer a great loss in the departure of Mr. and Mrs. Boris Reiss which will be necessitated by the removal of the Salt Office. In the two years that Mr. and Mrs. Reiss have been in Taichow they have made themselves very popular and they will be missed very much in all the social life of the foreigners. Mrs. Reiss's talent as a pianist and Mr. Reiss's skill at tennis have done much to enliven the time of all the foreigners here. Certainly the best wishes of the whole community go with them to their new station and it is the hope of the residents here that the Office will soon be returned to Taichow.

An interesting game of football was played between the Whai Tung Middle School (Chinese) and the Ming Deh Middle School (Missionary) resulting in a victory for the Whai Tung boys of one to nothing. Several games have been played between these two teams, all of which were very exciting because the teams were so equally matched.

Church Approves Gov. Wood's Report

(China Press Service)

Des Moines, Ia., May 25.—The report of the Foreign Mission Board to the general assembly of the Presbyterian Church declared that the Wood-Forbes Philippine report, despite its recommendation of making haste slowly, was a tribute to the tense desire for knowledge and idealism on the part of the people of the Philippines.

The report asserted that the Four-Power Treaty concluded at Washington would solve "one of the large difficulties confronting the Philippine program—the danger of aggravating other nations."

It said that "the active cooperation of the Filipino people in administering the government is a great contrast to the non-co-operative campaign of nationalist India."

May 26, 1922

Spot bar silver was up 1/16d. and forward unchanged in London yesterday.

The New York price advanced to 72¼ cents, and the London-New York cross rate is unchanged at 445⅛.

The official rates here today were unchanged from yesterday, and the market, while opening firm, eased off during the day, at one time became weak, and closed steady.

The highest at which business in Sterling was done was 3-7½ for May-June and in Gold Dollars at 80¾. The lowest rates were 3-6¾ for Sterling and 79½ for Gold Dollars. At the close, however, there were no sellers of Sterling at better than 3-7, and of Gold Dollars at 79⅝ for all deliveries up to July.

China bought a small amount of silver in London yesterday, and the Continent sold.

The market there is reported as steady.

New York report their market as firm.

Singapore Rubber Auctions

Singapore, May 10, 1922

A further decline in the consuming markets has taken place during the past week. Quotations to hand this morning give 8⅝d. sellers and 8¼d. buyers for spot in London, while New York is quoted at 15¾ cents dull. The local market has remained very steady, and business has been rather difficult owing to "shorts" covering at prices above the parity of the consuming markets.

At the weekly auction today there was quite a big quantity put up for sale, viz: 932 tons; of these 745 tons were offered and 646 tons sold.

The demand was fair and the tone of market steady throughout the sale, but values show a slight decline on the week.

Singapore Standard Ribbed Smoked Sheet sold at 27 cents, which is one cent down; some lots, packed in cases, fetched 27⅛ cents.

Sheet equal to Standard was in very good demand selling at same price as Awarded Standard. Off Quality Ribbed Smoked Sheet met with a keen competition, and many lots obtained very fair prices.

No sales of Standard 1st Latex took place.

Crepe equal to Standard found buyers at the above price which marks a decline of ½ cent.

Off Color Latex was shown a fair amount of interest.

Fine Brown Crepes were wanted at prices unchanged on the week.

Brown, Dark and Barky Crepes were practically unchanged since last sale.

Egypt's Survivors Arrive In London

(Reuter's Service)

London, May 25.—There were affecting scenes at Victoria Station this morning when eighteen passenger survivors of the Egypt arrived from Paris. A large number of relatives were on the platform and there were affectionate embraces and handshakes, while some were overcome by emotion.

Several survivors declared that the lascars were panic-stricken and rushed the boats but it was generally agreed that the lascars had not carried revolvers. There was only one revolver on board and only two or three shots were fired.

A New Crisis In Siberia

A REUTER telegram which we publish today announces that the government of The Far Eastern Republic has asked the government of Soviet Russia for help in order that it may withstand the Japanese military activities in Siberia, and that Moscow has decided to furnish both troops and supplies to that end immediately.

This brings an exasperating situation to a natural and long expected crisis. Japan must evacuate or fight. If war ensues the onus will be upon Japan. Observers of Far Eastern events are agreed upon this and the rest of the world will not long remain in doubt.

Stripped of all the pettifogging technicalities which marked the Dairen conference and finally eventuated in the breaking off of negotiations, the main and inevitable fact emerges that Japan has an army on Siberian soil, that Japan is an unwelcome guest, an invader by might of arms, whose presence there cannot be tolerated by the rightful self-respecting owners of the soil.

It may be well here to examine some of the assertions made by the Japanese Foreign Office regarding the failure at Dairen. First of all look at the professed "principal objects of the negotiations." These were, besides the questions of general commerce and trade "the elimination of dangers to the lives and property of Japanese subjects as well as the menace to Japan herself. (This was considered particularly necessary in view of the facts that, besides the general danger due to political instability in Siberia, it was found that rebellious Koreans in and around Vladivosok might injure Japanese, that many Koreans are enlisted in the Bolshevik army, and that certain Koreans who were in collusion with the Bolsheviks had actually attempted an armed invasion of the Korean border and burned a Japanese Consulate), and the securing of an assurance for the abolition of the rigorous industrial restrictions upon foreigners in Siberia."

Elsewhere in the statement we are told that the Japanese demands "were confined, apart from matters necessary for the establishment of commercial relations between Japan and the Far Eastern Republic, to those about which not only had Chita made formal declarations on many occasions but had offered informal propositions to Japan, that is, non-enforcement of communistic principles in the Far Eastern Republic, as against the Japanese at least, prohibition of Bolshevik propaganda, abolition of the menacing military establishments of old Russia, adoption of the principle of the open door in Siberia, and the removal of the industrial restrictions on foreigners."

These various points need not be examined at length, but all may be judged by samples. Take the question of the elimination of dangers to the lives and property of Japanese subjects. With the exception of the Nikolaievsk incident, which Mr. Hughes, U. S. Secretary of State, has pointed out was the effect of the presence of Japanese forces in Siberia and not a justification for their continued presence, there has been practically no loss of Japanese lives except those of members of the Japanese armed forces, and they have met their end while carrying out the business of their lives, namely, fighting, and in almost every case the fighting has been the consequence of unprovoked Japanese attacks on the local population. There is practically no record of a Japanese civilian, while in the pursuit of his lawful occupation, suffering injury at the hands of the authorities of the Far Eastern Republic, whether superior authorities or inferior.

As for the "menace to Japan," it is of course all moonshine. In the absence of a navy, the Far Eastern Republic can be no more danger to Japan than are the Martians. The Far Eastern Republic has not even a mercantile marine that might be converted into an organisation of transports, for Japan and China between them have seized practically all the Russian vessels in Far Eastern waters; and it is absurd to suppose that a state with a population of less than three million people can be so mad as to launch a campaign against a militarist Power like Japan, with the third largest navy in the world.

It will be noticed that the Japanese statement gives certain reasons why in the view of the Japanese Foreign Office it was considered "particularly necessary" to insist on these things. Among these facts, or alleged facts, is the "political instability" of Siberia. This is one of the persistent myths of international politics. There has been a stable government in the Far Eastern Republic ever since April of 1920, maintaining order everywhere except where the Japanese troops have been stationed or where reactionary Russian adventurers, subsidised from time to time in finding a temporary foothold. The Japanese Foreign Office, which is really a department of the Japanese War Department, makes the invariable mistake of the militarist mind. Being pretty dense itself it thinks it can count on the stupidity of the world at large, and so it expects the world to believe that the Japanese Government really thought the Chita Government was unstable and yet took the trouble to open up negotiations with it. It is quite certain that the Japanese Government had reached the conclusion that the Chita Government was a stable institution, or it would not have entered into negotiations with it, and the insinuation about instability is merely an excuse for attempting to enforce harsh terms, or possibly for some drastic coup that is being prepared for the early future.

Then, there is the reference to Koreans in and around Vladivostok. This is particularly inept, for Vladivostok itself and the district around it are both under Japanese rule and Japan herself has the power to crush entirely any Korean movement or even any Korean individual in or near Vladivostok.

This ineptitude is only equalled by the following suggestion that the Koreans enlisted in the Bolshevik army are a menace to Japan. There is no Bolshevik army in the territory of the Far Eastern Republic, and it passes the wit of man to understand how an agreement with the Government of the Far Eastern Republic could be supposed to have any sort of influence over the relations between the Moscow Government and any Koreans, if there be any, in the Red Army of Soviet Russia.

But of this little nest of absurdities, the most ridiculous is the reference to the Koreans who, "in collusion with the Bolsheviks had actually attempted an armed invasion of the Korean frontier and burned a Japanese consulate." The reference of course is to the Hunchun incident, but fortunately there is quite independent testimony to the character of the persons involved in that affair. The Report of the Commissioner of Customs at Hunchun for the year 1920 describes the band of persons who first attacked the town as a "band of robbers," the nationality of this band being unnamed. In the later attack on the town, when the Japanese Consulate was burned, the attacking party is described as consisting of "400 to 600 men, some six of them Russians, but no Koreans among them." The allegation of the Japanese Foreign Office, that "Koreans in collusion with Bolsheviks" had attempted an armed invasion of the Korean frontier, is thus reduced to a bandit raid by a six Russians, not necessarily Bolsheviks or persons of any particular political color whatever, and between 400 and 600 bandits of un-named, but expressly stated not to be Korean nationality.

There is another point of some interest about this raid, and that is that the Japanese authorities at the time took up the matter solely with the Chinese authorities and sought to hold them to a strict accountability for the incident. No suggestion was then made that the raid had originated in the minds of Bolsheviks or of Koreans working in collusion with Bolsheviks, but the responsibility of the Chinese authorities for the trouble was stressed. It suits the Japanese Foreign Office now, however, to assume that the raid originated with Koreans in collusion with Bolsheviks.

The Japanese Foreign Office statement also omits to point out that the destroyed consulate was on Chinese soil, and not on Russian, though not far from the borders both of Russia and of Korea. The Japanese allegation that the burning of the Hunchun consulate was the work of Koreans, in collusion with Bolsheviks, suggests that part of the responsibility for the affair rests with the authorities in Korea, who ought to look better after their people than to let them pass over the Chinese or the Russian border to be a nuisance to other people.

This however is past history. What does the immediate future hold?

Depew, At 88, Thinks Worst Is Over

America's indomitable optimist, Chauncey M. Depew, sat on April 23 at the desk of the chairman of the board of the New York Central Railroad, receiving, in the intervals of an ordinary business day, the felicitations of the civilised world over the oncoming of his eighty-eighth birthday. Once again, as he greeted friends, it was his undismayed, unconquerable conviction of more good than bad in human nature that flowed from his ready conversation.

He spoke, this extraordinary man, of many men and many things as his mind looked backward over the great sweep of years—of his youthful struggle "to get ahead;" of his association with the Vanderbilts and with the old Commodore, especially; of Lincoln, whom he knew well; of how narrowly (and luckily too) he missed becoming one of the great plutocrats of the times; of personages of Europe with whom he had talked sense and non-sense; of rules of health and how long life can be had if we are willing to pay a price in self-denial. But, mainly, his mind turned to the future rather than the past—to what the world, and especially that part of the world he loves best—is coming to after all the welter of war and the bleak aftermath.

Not in years has Mr. Depew presented a more vigorous aspect. He was as fresh as a daisy after speaking for half an hour and staying up late at the Pilgrim's dinner. Within little more than a decade of the century he surely expects to round out, there is color in his cheeks and the brilliancy of mental vigor in his eye. His step is firm. There is no slumping of aged shoulders as he sits back in his chair or rises to survey from the window the railroad stronghold over which he still presides as president emeritus.

IMPROVES AS YEARS PASS

Mr. Depew's voice is strong and constant of tone—no quavering there. His health seems, indeed, to improve as the years go by, and the speculator who would lay odds against the consummation of a singular dream that Mr. Depew had only a few nights ago would be a bold gambler.

It was a curious dream. The old war horse of the Republican Party, who has been among the makers of every Republican nominee for President since 1856, and who, with a forty minute speech, saw himself once more upon a Republican national convention rostrum, holding 15,000 persons under the spell of graceful speech. The year seemed to be 1932, ten years from now, when Mr. Depew would be 98, and the old, familiar drama of the greatest of political performances sounded in his ears and flashed before his kindling eye. As surely as he looks forward to tomorrow's sun, he expects to make that speech.

"The good old world is on the up grade again," he said. "I believe that the worst has passed for Europe and for ourselves. So far as peace and better human understanding are concerned, the Washington conference was the turning point. It was the greatest single event I have ever known in all my life. I say that deliberately.

"Besides ensuring peace for ten years, anyway, in the only quarter of the world where war really threatened us; besides overturning the wildly extravagant naval estimates put through by a pacifist administration and stopping the ruinously costly naval competition; besides ending the unpleasant British-Japanese alliance, it accomplished, for the first time, a tremendous factor for human progress. It created a world opinion. Before the conference came about I felt more uneasy for civilisation than I ever felt before. Now I am more cheerful about the outlook than I have been for several years.

SHOULD BE AT GENOA

"I think great good will come out of the Genoa Conference, to which, in my judgment, America should have been a party. We cannot evade our world responsibilities. We cannot escape the unescapable. Here is an instance. Because of the collapse in Russia and the utter depreciation of money pretty nearly everywhere abroad, except in England, our farmers have been hard hit. They could not sell their crops for decent prices, because the European market had shut up.

"Therefore, the farm bloc was formed in Congress and that farm bloc has done more, it seems to me, to interfere with the President's plans and with the restoration of prosperity than any other element. There is an instance of our national dependableness upon foreign events. Harding wanted to cut down the income tax on men who were making great incomes. These men have been the originators of industry and business. The farm bloc wouldn't permit the cut. Therefore money that should have gone into business and into the development of a multitude of fresh enterprises is locked up in land and in non-taxable securities. What is the result? Unemployment. We are coming out of it, but we need not have suffered it in anything like the severity.

"I believe Genoa will succeed because the ablest man in the world is at the helm. I refer to Lloyd George. I do not believe I have ever known a stateman so astute as this Welshman. He seems to have the faculty of diagnosing far ahead the plans of his opponents and to have the constructive ability to form plans of his own in ample time to rout opposition. I believe he will steer the conference past the rocks of the Russian-German crisis, and that there will be a real European understanding for the first time in years.

Genoa will not be enough. I am convinced that there must be another conference of nations to remap Europe and undo the frightful harm that was done by the spoilsters who met at Versailles to divide the loot. Until that right is had war is sure to threaten in a dozen places and bitterness will dwell in the hearts of the despoiled.

TAXES MUST BE REDUCED

"The big thing for us here at home to realise and get down to its economy and production. We have been spending too much as a nation and as individuals and we haven't been producing enough. Taxes that are breaking the backs of business men and ordinary citizens must come down on the run, and no project calculated to add to the burden rather than to decrease it should be tolerated for an hour.

"When they talk of a bonus for perfectly able-bodied young men, a bonus which would add perhaps five billions to our debt and keep us mortgaged to the tax-gatherer for years and years, they are talking insanely. But I feel certain that the President will never consent. He will find a way either to sidetrack or to kill that project—one that would have made the young men who fought on either side in the civil war blush with shame, and God knows many of them needed money, especially the Southern boys.

"Speaking of the President, I hope and feel the time has come for him to exert his leadership. He has seemed temperamentally averse to cracking the whip and to prefer to guide by gentle suggestion rather than by dictation. But the fact is the country has little or no confidence in Congress, and the people look more and more to the President to force, if necessary, the reforms and alleviations they want."

Mr. Depew does not believe that the present prohibition law can be made to work as it now stands, and he predicts that an amelioration of it will be brought about.

"Looking at the law as I have studied many other repressive acts and the consequent public reaction, it is apparent to me that a change is forming in public opinion. The corruption and hypocrisy, the enrichment of criminals, the annoyances and actual deprivation caused to decent, temperate and law abiding citizens are all working for a change in the act which will make it reasonably just and workable. The saloon is gone for good and distilled liquor will never come back in quantity, but I should not be surprised to see, some little time ahead, wines and beers. Nor do I see any reason why this should not be so."

KINDLY EYE FOR FLAPPER

Upon the flapper, as upon a thousand topics of large or small importance, Mr. Depew looks with kindly eye. She is no menace—far from it. He thinks her amusing and deserving of commendation inasmuch as most of her are working girls out earning their own bread and butter and not existing as parasites.

"Lord bless me," he said, "they've had the younger generation headed straight for hades a dozen times in my recollection, but the younger generation comes out all right every time. There are flappers in every age, however, they may be called—restless youth, turning to the fashions of dress and the fashions of amusement that happen to fit the times."

Thousands of people write to Mr. Depew every year to ask him how he manages to keep so well and so active at his time of life. He is too wise to lay down specifications for individuals, but he has a few general rules which have worked beautifully in application to his own particular physical machinery. He says the best thing is to keep a wary eye out for defects, then go to a first rate doctor and honestly follow his advice.

Another thing is to cut out absolutely any food or activity that is harmful. He used to like red meat. It gave him rheumatism. He stopped eating red meat twenty-five years ago and he hasn't had a twinge of rheumatism since. He liked to smoke years back as well as the next man, but smoking made him nervous and often sleepless. He quit it thirty years ago and sleeps like a baby.

Nobody liked a glass of champagne any better than Mr. Depew, but it was too much of a stimulant taken in even the moderate quantity with which he indulged himself. So he stopped that. These are a few, only, of the instances of self-discipline that have brought him to 88 years and the strength of mind and body that men of 60 might envy.

ANTIQUES ARE NOT FRAGILE

"Some people call me an antique, a real, genuine antique," he laughed. "Maybe I am, but contrary to even Mrs. Depew's opinion, all antiques are not fragile, and I belong in that class."

Too much money is apt to shorten the life of the possessor, he believes, because great wealth brings with it an accumulation of worries and responsibilities that few men are able to evade, and these worries and responsibilities grease the way to the grave.

"I am alive today," he said, "because fate bilked me out of a vast fortune. In 1876 Gardner Hubbard came to me and said that a son-in-law of his, Prof. Bell, had invented a 'talking telegraph' and needed $10,000 to get it started. I was impressed and ready to go into the matter, but I went to William Orton, head of the Western Union Telegraph Company, and Orton pooh-poohed the whole business. He said, 'Why, Chauncey, there's nothing in that. It will never be anything but a toy. Keep your good money out of it.' And I did," Mr. Depew laughed. "I could have had a sixth interest in the Bell Telephone Company."

He talked of old days at Peekskill and the first lawyer's fee he ever earned. A farmer went to him for an opinion, got it and asked for the bill. Depew told him $5. "Why, Chauncey, that's too much for a young beginner to charge. About $1.75 would be right." And young Depew took it thankfully. Later the same farmer took his case to the celebrated Charles O'Conor and cheerfully paid $500. Such is the earning power of fame.

Few men have had more to do with newspaper reporters than he, and few have got along better with the profession. He recalled yesterday the round eyed cub who interviewed him years ago.

"What is it, Mr. Depew, that makes April 23 so remarkable?" asked the boy.

"Well," said Mr. Depew, "I suppose it is the fact that Sh. George of England, Shakespeare and myself were all born on the same day."

"In the same year?" the cub returned, serious as a judge.

Mr. Depew never issued "messages to the American people." His sense of humor prevents. But when he was asked yesterday if there was anything he would like to say for the benefit of his friends the country over, he thought a moment, then replied:

"Yes. It is this: Be cheerful. Laugh at your misfortunes and enjoy your good fortune. Love your fellow men and women, no matter how often they disappoint you."

Correspondence

Attention Municipal Council

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS,

Sir: A friend visited me yesterday. He talked something about his school life (St. John's Y.M.C.A. School, beside Jessfield Park). He said: As our school is near by this park, the balls which the students use to play are sometimes kicked into it. The gardeners, as our balls fall down, pick them up and do not return them to us, except ten cents is paid to them.

A few days ago a student hit a tennis ball to the park, the gardner picked it up as usual and said that twenty cents should be paid for the ball. Now the student is a small boy, he could not get so much money as the gardener requested, but only ten cents, so he was unable to get this ball.

Though to plant and take care of the flowers are the duties of the gardener, yet the students have allowed to pay ten cents for the ball, so ought to return, but now not, why? It is not lawful for the gardeners to receive ten cents at the usual I think, how can he wish to get more at this time.

Last year a student kicked a football to the park, and the gardener kept it, said that four dollars ought to pay. But the student did not pay it, and wrote a letter to the council, to ask the ball. As the council is pure-justice, they sent the ball back to the student.

Now the students have not much time to write letters, so I ask the council and all people to judge, whether the gardeners ought to receive this kind of money. If right, certainly we must call the students to take care next time and never ask balls again, and if not, I beg the council to order the gardeners to return all the balls which they got, and also command them to return all the balls next time.

Sincerely yours,
K. Y. Zung.

The Week's Market Report

In their weekly report on the Shanghai piece-goods trade, Messrs. Noel, Murray and Company write as follows:

Cotton.—The markets have become a little easier this week and in New York yesterday the range of prices was 21.50 cents for Spot, 20.27 for July, 20.14 October, 19.99 December, 19.84 January and 19.65 cents for March, 1923. In Bombay another advance has been established and F. G. Bengals are quoted Rs. 867, Fine Oomras Rs. 435, F. G. Broach Rs. 511. In Liverpool Spot Good Middlings have lost 21 points and are quoted at 11.79d., July cotton is 11.52d. and October 11.27d. Bengals have advanced to 8.85d. and Egyptians to 18.75d.

Home Market.—Manchester continues to strengthen, as much as 3s. per piece over last price was demanded for White Shirtings this week, and with a struggle only 3d. was cut in the case of staple Grey goods; in the original offer 6d. off was asked for. India seems to have been buying freely and stocks there are running low.

Local Market.—Trade is nervous and is not very much in evidence; clearances have been vastly better this week in spite of the dearness of money; but the approach of the 5th day of the 5th month settlement is often quoted as an excuse for the want of activity in the piece goods market. The auction firms have taken full advantage of the past cessations and the one next week, as well as of the better exchange, and have sold largely increased quantities this week and these sales, we fancy, constitute the major portion of the business that has been done.

Financial.—There has been a heavy drain on the supplies of silver this week, the chief demand being for dollars for annual purchases of cocoons. The figures are now down to Tls. 23,100,000 and $29,250,000, of which sums the native banks hold Tls. 5,800,000 and $17,360,000.

Yarn.—Sales of local yarn total 3,400 bales, plus 4,500 bales for retailing in bundles.

Auctions.—The total sold amounted to 60,000 pieces. It was not too easy to move this quantity, but on the whole the market was brisker today when the selling of over 800 packages was done in less time than rather more than half that quantity, which was the bill of fare on Tuesday. Most of the Grey Shirtings dropped from 10 to 15 candareens but there were exceptions among the weights from 10 lbs. to 15 lbs. Considering the quantities offered White Shirtings did not do so badly and pluses were more numerous today, when 350 cases were sold. While Irishes declined, Mexican T-Cloths, Jeans and White Sheetings all improved slightly. Turkey Reds were stronger on Tuesday but irregular today. Velvets were about steady. White Lawns declined 5 to 7 mace with the larger quantity offered. These goods have a short season of about 3 months only. Fast Black Italians were firmer at the close but many of them fell from 5 cands to 3 mace a piece. Twills were a shade weaker and Venetians were not in great request at a few fractions under last prices.

ROSENFELD REPORT

In their weekly report on the cotton market, Messrs. A. B. Rosenfeld and Son write as follows:

China Cotton.—Since our last report the market has been rather quiet with local fluctuations of little importance, while on the other hand, American cotton has been steadily climbing, having made in the past week a new high for spot cotton this year.

On the whole, the outlook is favorable for further advances after the Dragon Boat Festival and we are still of the opinion that purchases should be made on all setbacks.

Yarn.—The yarn market has had a distinctly quiet appearance throughout the past week with trading almost at a standstill. As to the future tendency of the market, we are of the opinion that pleasant surprises will be witnessed next month.

SPUNT AND COMPANY

Messrs. J. Spunt and Company write as follows in their weekly report on the cotton market:

China Cotton: Our market during the past week has shown no improvement whatsoever as far as the demand for raw cotton is concerned, due mainly to the prevailing stagnation in the yarn market and notwithstanding such circumstances prices on the raw material have appreciated in sympathy with the rising tendency in both Mid-Americans and Indians.

Spinners are keeping aloof so long as the yarn market continues in its present lifeless position and holders being well supported financially are in no way disposed to swerve from the favorable position surrounding their stocks in that the sentiment in the trade at this time is more bullish than bearish in view of the fact that the carry over of local cotton from last season is very small and there being still four months more to await developments as to the final outturn of the new season crop. Tone of the market, Firm.

HAIRNET

Messrs. Yannoulatos Bros (China) have received the following report on the hairnet market from their Chefoo head office:

Small orders have been received during this week from Europe for single nets and from America for doubles.

It is anticipated that market prices will advance if the present demand continues and this on account of the smallness of the stocks and supplies.

News have been received here by cable that quantities are being shipped to Europe from America and that the European markets are weak as consequence.

PONGEE SILK

The China Merchants Pongee Association have received the following report on the pongee silk market from their Chefoo head office:

There is practically nothing of importance to report in the pongee market.

Raw silks have been fluctuating around Ch. Tls. 700 with very small business going through. The market is quiet.

FILET LACE

Messrs. Industrial Export (China) Company write as follows in their report on the lace market:

There is very little change in the Filet Lace market since our last report. Princes are firm with fairly large buying of 6 and 9 hole as well as Rose and Leaf. Best quality goods are sold at 1.7½ to 1.8 per hole.

Practically no business has been done in Irish Crochet. Swatow best quality is still offered at 1.90 to 1.95 Mex. $ per ounce.

JUTE FABRICS

Mr. J. A. Fredericks writes as follows in the circular on jute fabrics:

The market during the fortnight under review has been very quiet and prices have been on the easy side though Calcutta reports an excited market with prices soaring up. It is reported that in Calcutta prices are as follows:

Heavy C's Bluestrips 2¼ lbs. Rs. 500.

Heavy C's Greenstrips 2½ lbs. Rs. 570.

Hessian "Cloth 45" x 11 oz. Rs. 290.

HANKOW MARKET

The British Chamber of Commerce at Hankow write as follows in their weekly circular dated Hankow, May 17:

Finance

Bar silver rose from 35⅝ ready and forward to 36⅝ ready and 36¼ forward on the 17th inst. The New York London cross rate remained fairly steady throughout and closed @ 4 45. Official T/T quotations advanced 1d during the work, to 37⅛, business however could be done @ 3/8¾ May to June.

Exports

Business proved rather dull during the week, chiefly due to the sharp advance in exchange. There was a fair demand from America, chiefly confined to wood oil, while the demand from Europe was very small. Home values are still too low to permit of any large volume of business being done. Tael prices locally appear to be steady.

Imports

Piece Goods: The improved conditions reported last week have been maintained and there is an active demand for all classes of goods for forward delivery. A very fair number of contracts have been made. A number of offers for stock goods have also been received but prices are not attractive to holders. Clearances are fair.

Yarn: The market is quiet. Clearances show a slight improvement.

Children Cry for Fletcher's
CASTORIA
Fletcher's Castoria is particularly a preparation for Infants and Children made agreeable to the taste, acceptable to the stomach and pleasant in its action. It has been in use for over thirty years and has always been one of the most highly esteemed of all cathartic preparations. It has one great advantage over other preparations of its kind in that while it opens the organs readily and completely, it does not have a tendency to produce subsequent constipation so much to be dreaded.
It was only after years of research in the fields of herbs and roots for a combination of purely vegetable matter that would have all the virtues of Castor Oil, without its disagreeable, nauseating properties, especially when used for infants or children, that the formula used in Fletcher's Castoria was found, and which for over 30 years has proven its worth. Try it.
Save the Babies.
Infantry mortality is something frightful. We can hardly realise that of all the children born in ivilised countries, twenty-two per cent., or nearly one quarter die before they reach one year, thirty seven per cent., or more than one-third, before they are five, and one half before they are fifteen! We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save many of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, tinct re and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain mor or less opium or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity, they stupefy, retard circulation and lead to congestion, sickness, death. To avoid any possibility of giving your child opiates, or narcotics of any kind, keep Fletcher's Castoria in the house, and Save the Babies.

British Women's Association Notes

The following ladies have joined the Association since our last announcement: Mrs. W. D. Anderson, Mrs. A. E. Baker, Miss Bendon, Mrs. T. F. Laughland, Mrs. E. H. Murphy, Mrs. T. W. Oliver, Mrs. G. K. Oliver, Miss Netia Rees, Mrs. M. A. Rennie.

Mrs. Neill, who took office on the departure of Miss Belbin from Shanghai has been obliged to relinquish the honorary treasurership of the Association owing to her change of plans for the Summer.

The American Woman's Club have sent a very cordial invitation to the chairman and Executive Committee of the B.W.A. to attend its annual garden party at 405 Avenue Joffre on Saturday next.

A most cordial letter of thanks has been received from the honorary Secretary to the British Empire Fund in connection with the restoration of Rheims Cathedral for the contribution made by British women in Shanghai to it last Autumn.

As most members are aware, a good deal of the furniture at Headquarters was lent or given by various members. Recently, however, certain articles have had to be returned to those who so kindly lent them and consequently, should any member have them to spare, two or three tea tables and twice as many small chairs would be very acceptable at Headquarters for the tea room. Furniture for the reading room is also much needed just now to replace that which was lent and which now has to be returned to its owner. A dining room suite, minus the sideboard, would be very suitable here and could be safely housed for any member who may be going home.

The British General Secretary to the National Christian Conference has written a very appreciative letter to the Secretary, B.W.A., in connection with the honorary membership of the Association which was extended to all British women delegates and wives of delegates who attended the recent conference. On behalf of the Association it may be said that to entertain and meet these workers from remote outposts—many of them—in China was esteemed a very great privilege. The B.W.A. has been the recipient of an exceedingly acceptable presentation copy of the recent publication entitled "Christian Occupation of China" as "a small token of appreciation of the thoughtful courtesies extended by the B.W.A. to the British Women Delegates to the National Christian Conference of May, 1922. A few of the members ask its acceptance for the Library. The B.W.A. in return offers its very sincere thanks for this handsome gift.

GARDENING SECTION

The next meeting of the Gardening Section will be held at Jessfield Park at 5 p.m. on Friday, June 2, when Mr. MacGregor will lecture on "Landscape Development."

DRAMATIC SECTION

A dress rehearsal of "Purse Strings" will take place at the Olympic Theater on Saturday evening, in view of the opening performance on Monday evening following. Ushers who have kindly undertaken to assist the management are asked to arrive at the Olympic Theater at 8:45 p.m. sharp on Monday. Booking has gone extremely well, all the better probably on account of the sympathy felt with those who are producing the play in their disappointment at the closing down of the Lyceum. Tickets may be obtained at the Olympic on Saturday afternoon and Sunday, and at Moutrie's on Monday and Tuesday.

S'HAI SCOTTISH RIFLE MEET

Members are reminded that if they want to enter their names for the Rifle Meeting to be held on Sunday, June 4, they must do so before Wednesday next or they will not be able to compete for the Challenge Cup which has been presented by Mrs. Allster Campbell. Being the first meeting on this organised scale there will be no handicapping at this meeting. Entries should be sent to Sergeant P. Campbell, C/o The British Chamber of Commerce, 1 The Bund.

SOCIAL SERVICE BOARD

The Board will meet at Headquarters on Monday next at 5:15 p.m. The Hospitals Aid Department of the S.S.B. report their output for the week as 196 bandages, 12 pillow cases and 6 sheets sent to Honan and 77 gauze pads and 2 pillow cases to Hangchow. There is plenty of room for more workers.

Papers May Bare Irregularities In Revenue Bureau

(China Press Service)

Washington, May 25.—Internal Revenue Commissioner Blair in an interview given out today, stated that more than 300 packets of papers which had been removed from the accounts unit of the Revenue Bureau after Secretary of the Treasury Mellon had dismissed G. D. Summer, deputy commissioner of internal revenue in charge of accounts, and C. C. Childs, supervisor of collections, had been restored and were now being examined with a view to baring possible irregularities.

Commissioner Blair stated that the papers were found in the apartment of S. G. Patchell, former chief of the payroll department and examiner of the accounts unit, who is alleged to have said that Summer asked him to remove them.

Navy Asks Aid For Line To Australia

(China Press Service)

Washington, May 25.—The Navy Department has made strong representations to the U. S. Shipping Board regarding the necessity of assisting the Oceanic Line vessels in maintaining a service from the United States to Australia as a means of keeping open communications to the Pacific possessions.

Chairman Albert D. Lasker said that Secretary of the Navy, Mr. Charles Denby, had informed the Shipping Board that the Navy Department will be in desperate straits for communications with some of America's possessions, notably Samoa, if the Oceanic Line vessels are withdrawn.

Chairman Lasker also expects to get Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover to support him in urging President Harding to recommend special appropriations to enable the postoffice to renew the Oceanic's contract.
